Future Pathways

This program has had a 83% success rate in helping adults become employed, go back to college or getting a paid internship.

We are excited to introduce Future Pathways, a new virtual, intensive 13-week training program designed by the Autism Society Inland Empire and Daivergent to empower adults in their career journeys. This program runs Monday to Friday from 1-3 pm and offers two cohorts:

Cohort 1: January 13, 2025 - April 15, 2025 OR
Cohort 2: July 14, 2025 - October 13, 2025

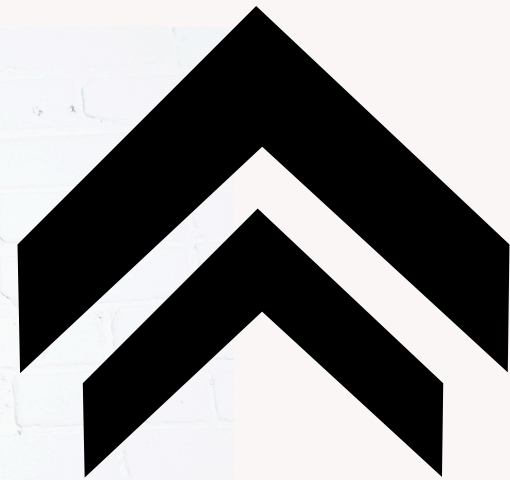

Our training program combines job exploration with skill development to help adults identify and achieve their career goals. If you aim for employment, this program is tailored to guide you toward success. Join us and take the first step towards a brighter future.

Key Features:

- Career Exploration: Vocational Specialists will help you explore various career options
- Learn soft and hard skills needed for today's workforce
- Personalized Career Planning: Develop a person-centered career plan and create customized resumes.
- Job Search Assistance: Help you identify potential jobs and receive assistance in applying for jobs.
- Additional Support: For those needing extra help, we can connect you with the Integrated Resource Institute, which will provide ongoing support after the training program.

Our ideal participants will be:

1. Inland Regional Center clients who have graduated high school or have their certificate of completion.
2. Clients eager and committed to finding part-time or full-time employment.
3. Individuals who can consistently attend daily virtual sessions from 1-3 pm, Monday to Friday, showing reliability and dedication to the program. You must attend at least 80% of the classes.
4. Clients open to developing skills such as communication, teamwork, and computer skills relevant to their chosen career path.
5. Basic working knowledge of saving and naming files, Internet navigation and emails, typing skills, etc.
6. Can follow directions presented orally and in writing and stay focused for a two-hour class.
7. The ability to receive and incorporate feedback, try new programs and methods, and work on non-preferred tasks.

Experience the program's first week to see how it can meet your needs and help you achieve your career aspirations.
